

PSYCHOLOGICAL HEALTH VERSION 1.13

Keithcot Farm Children's Centre is committed to promoting and maintaining the psychological health and well-being of every member of their staff team. We promote a holistic approach to health and recognise that the interaction of both physical and psychological well-being is required to achieve good health. While individuals are responsible for their own psychological health, the whole site can actively promote the psychological health of each individual.

Roles

The Director:

- Will ensure that staff are aware of policies and procedures which may be relevant to their psychological health and well-being through the induction process.
- Informs staff of any changes to policies at staff meetings.
- Will use personnel management practices which are supportive of psychologically healthy sites and ensure that psychological health issues are managed.
- Notify WH & S representative of site incidents which affect employee psychological health.

Staff:

- Act in a manner which protects their own and others' psychological health.
- Are conversant with the policies and practices which impact on their own psychological health and well being and the psychological health of other employees.
- Promptly and responsibly report to the Director any concerns about the psychological health of the site.
- Contribute to the psychological health of the site as effective members of the team.

At Keithcot Farm Children's Centre:

Staff share responsibility for developing a Children's Centre in which the psychological wellbeing of staff members is continuously improving in terms of the key characteristics of healthy organisations. This is carried out through the following:

- Effective leadership.
- Sound people management skills - induction of new staff or when new work practices are introduced; effective communication, consultation and decision making processes.
- Strategic directions are clearly articulated.
- Goals consistent with core values, are clearly defined and seen to be practised.
- Roles and responsibilities are clearly defined.
- Performance management structures and processes are in place.
- Grievance procedures are explicit.
- Staff skills and abilities are acknowledged and valued.
- Accountability and reporting processes are in place.
- Staff are encouraged to be innovative.
- Continuous improvement is implemented and valued.
- Support is in place for staff experiencing difficult times and to prevent difficult situations from deteriorating.

The Children's Centre believes that all staff:

- Are able to recognise early signs of discomfort and take action to restore a sense of well-being and balance.

- Are able to develop strong nurturing relationships.
- Are open to changes that occur through life experiences.
- Are emotionally independent and do not have the right to control the thoughts, behaviour or people around them.
- Are able to seek support from others.
- Learn increasingly adaptive mechanisms for coping with distress, anxiety, conflict and anger in themselves and others.

Staff will actively participate in the Children's Centre consultation strategies to ensure continuous improvement of psychological health – individually and as a team through:

- Induction
- National Quality Agenda processes.
- Staff meetings.
- Partnership Meetings.
- Grievance Procedures.
- Performance Management Processes/Training and Development.

Staff have knowledge of safety nets in place to enhance and support their psychological health as follows:

- DE Employee Assistance Programs as contracted by DECD.
- Staff Counselling (both work and non-work related issues).
- Managers Assist (support for managers in relation to individual, team and staff well being).
- Beyond Blue website.
- DE Social Worker.
- Australian Education Union.
- United Voice.
- Public Services Association.
- Australian Services Union.
- DE Child Wellbeing Practitioner
